ERGO CONSULTANCY

The Outsourcing Influencers Community together with:

Outsourced trading has long challenged the trading desks of London and the world, with what can be expected and what can be achieved from a modern, global, and multi-asset dealing desk.

According to recent research and reports the time for collaboration at least is coming, the Outsourced model is increasing its reach and most importantly more and more buy side clients are considering outsourcing for some or all of their execution needs.

The questions remain:

1. What can Outsourcers offer above an in house trading desk?
2. What level of service can you have that can compete with your trader on the end of your phone?
3. What technology and knowledge can they bring that you do not already have access to?

In short, what can the outsourced trading desk offer that is Execution Plus?

Our Speakers include:

- Gilles Martins, Head of Business Development at Natixis TRADEX Solutions
- Andrew Caplan, Head of Outsourced Trading at Stone X
- Lynn Strongin Dodds, Editor at Best Execution

Join David Berney of Ergo and his guests, as he tries to find answers to these questions and more.
